aubernatorial contest in Virginia eigh-teen months anead of time," said Mr. Washington, D. C., March S.
Representative Carter Glass appeared a little nettled, and then, again, decidedly quizzleal to-day when I called list attention to a publication in one of the afternoon papers of Richmond, which announced that he had "always opposed the nomination and confirmation of Judge Rhea to be a Corporation Commissioner, and will enter the gubernatorial campaign and force the fighting along that the and antagonize Judge Mann on that score."

Mr. Glass to-day, "but should I conclude to be a candidate, as in all likelihood I shall, I hope there will be a better and broader purpose behind the decision that opposed the nomination and confirmation of Judge Rhea. I trust, more friend, Judge Rhea. I trust, more fighting along that the and antagonize Judge Mann on that score."

Mr. Glass to-day, "but should I conclude to be a candidate, as in all likelihood I shall, I hope there will be a better and broader purpose behind the decision. I should refuse to run."

"But it is a fact, isn't it, that you opposed the appointment and confirmation of Judge Rhea as a member of the Corporation Commission?' I asked. "My newspaper at Lynchburg did, unquestionably," replied Mr. Glass, and the article, which, while explicit and pointed, was, I think, dignified and temperate—a natural, proper, open comment on a public episode of considerable significance.

"But what seems singular to me," contained in the paper you have there that I am especially interested in "going after' somebody about the Rhea mater, and that I shall be intent upon assalling Judge Mann on that account, while other candidates are agreeably employed in discussing graver issue—if there be any graver issue than the preservation of the fudiciary from the very thought of partisan touch."

And here Mr. Glass, somebody about the Rhea mater, and that I shall be intent upon assa tive and got to asking questions him self.

self.
"Would you, or not, think," he asked,
"that my newspaper friend in Richmond intends to suggest that I am the only prospective gubernatorial candidate who did not favor the assention only prospective gubernatorial candi-date who did not favor the appoint-ment and confirmation of Judge Rhea as Corporation Commissioner?"

as Corporation Commissioner?"
But this correspondent did not feel charged with the responsibility of interpreting the article which was being made the basis of this interview.
"If that is not meant," insisted the Lynchburg representative, "why should I be singled out as having assumed the task of going after Judge Mann on that line? Is it to be inferred from this that the other candidates think Judge Rhea's appointment was entirely suitable and should have been confirmed? Is it to quite as important, and would is it not quite as important, and would

what they propose to do or say about it?

"Do not misapprehend me." Mr. Glass added, "I feel no resentment at having attention directed to the fact that I was against the appointment of Judge Rhea. Furthermore, if it is proposed that I shall have the distinction of being the only one of the four prospective candidates for the nomination to the governorship who opnosed Judge Rhea's appointment and confirmation, I still shall not complain.

"But unless this is the case, I confoss to a little surprise at having assigned to me exclusively the picturesque occupation of cudgeling Judge Mann for defending Judge Rhea, while

Mann for defending Judge Rhea, while

Mann for defending Judge Rhea, while other gentlemen are making pacific and polished speeches on other subjects. I cannot believe that anybody concerned could relish that sort of a program."

The article to which the attention of Mr. Glass was drawn to-day appeared in the Richmond News Leader of last Wednesday. It said Mr. Stuart would discuss issues from the standpoint of a business man, a farmer and cattle-raiser, and referred to Mr. Tucker as a man of great polish, who had put away congressional honors in 1896, when Mr. Flood received the nomination, because Mr. Tucker did not believe in the free coinage of silver. The article suggested Mr. Tucker did not believe in the tree colnage of silver. The article sug-gested that Mr. Glass would go after Judge Mann's scalp in the Rhea matter, but did not indicate how Mr. Tucker or Mr. Stuart stand on that question.
